- Between 21 and 25 August no fighters or bombers were at Shanghai Air Base.
- 2. On 23 and 25 August air raid alarms were sounded.
- 3. On 17 August two fighter groups and a bomber squadron left Shanghai for Nanking to participate in combat maneuvers over Hsuchou (117-11, 34-16). Although they were scheduled to be away from Shanghai for two months, they returned earlier because enemy planes were present over Shanghai and other coastal regions. At 6 p.m. of 25 August these units left Hsuchou for Nanking and arrived at Shanghai at 10 a.m. on 26 August.
- 4. From 27 August to 5 September one flight of fighters was flying constantly over Shanghai.
- 5. On 29 August three reconnaissance planes from the 8 Reconnaissance Squadron arrived at Lunghua Airfield to strengthen Shanghai air defenses.
- On 3 September three fighter planes left for Hanchou at 10 a.m. and returned to Shanghai at 4 p.m.
